Hongkong, Wednesday, April 26, 1882.

During the rains at the beginning of last week, the state of the Queen's Road was simply wretched, notwithstanding the fact that our principal throughfare has recently been repaired at a large outlay. Had Governor Hennessy been in the Colony we would, as usual, have been treated to a virulent attack on His Excellency's management of the Surveyor-General's: department by our "independent" contemporaries; Sir John being temporarily absent, the state of the roads was no fitting theme for the Wyndham Street oracles, However, as the cost of maintaining the roads throughout the Colony amounts to on whose authority the Calcutta Englishman made a considerable sum, from the Government exchequer, and as their proper maintenance is essential for public comfort and convenience, we are not disposed to look upon this question from a "party" point of view. As we have already stated, the Queen's Road has just been repaired at some considerable expense. Owing to jinricksha traffic, these repairs are altogether inadequate and unsatisfactory. The road is already cut up, and full of ruts and holes. What will it be in two months time, after we have had a few heavy rains? It will be-what it always has been under such to, is a second edition of the celebrated "Tailors circumstances - a wretched swamp, quite are not blaming anybody, as we really gannot see on whom blame ought properly to lie. We merely call attention, in the public interest, to a matter of great public importance which badly wants remedying, with the hope that some of our embryo scientists may be able to suggest some effectual system of "macadamising" or otherwise rendering the Queen's Road impervious both to rains and jinrickshas. We are not sufficiently acquainted from practical experience to speak with any great show of authority on such a subject; but we have seen both asphalt and wooden paving tried in the streets of the City of London, where the traffic is ten thousand times greater than in it has occurred to us that one of these methods-the-wooden-block-system-forchoice-might answer our special requirewould doubtless be very heavy, but it is possible that the adoption of the wooden system—similar to that now in use in many of the principal streets, in London-would prove economical in the end. At all events, although our roads generally are in capital order, Queen's Road from its low position, and the constant jinricksha traffic which is carried on throughout the day, requires some system very different to that now in use, and this will be made disagreeably apparent during the ensuing rainy season.

WE would remind members of the lodge, and the craft generally, that an Emergency Lodge of St. John, No. 618, S.C. will be held this evening at 8.30. FOR posting bills on the wall of the Clock-tower, that monument of architectural genius, a coolie was this morning fined fifty cents, or two days' imprisonment, by Captain Thomsett.

THREE Chinamen, one a shopkeeper and the other two masters of firms, were brought up this morning before Captain Thomsett on the charge of storing kerosine on their premises in Queen's Road Central without having a licence. One was fined $50, or a month, and the other two $25 each, or 14 days. From the evidence i would appear that one of the defendants had-a licence, but the tins were not stored in the well, they having been found by Inspector Orley Whilst the columns of the Hougkong Tele- amongst cases of matches and other goods, in a splendid position to provide the Fire Brigade with something to do in these idle times.

> As we intimated would be the case, the sergeants of the Buffs, desirous of retrieving their late defeat, have challenged the Police to another friendly fiving match on the range at Kowloon. The Police have accepted the challenge, and the match will be shot off on Saturday next at the same hour as last saturday. The conditions are precisely the same as before,-eight aside; distances 200,500 and 600 yards; 7 round at each; in $50 each, the dollars to be lodged in Court. position anyhow; losers to pay cost of ammunition and refreshments. We believe a much superfor team to the last one will be sent by the Buffs to do battle for them on this occasion, so the Police had better look to their laurels.

HO A TIM, who was ordered by the Magistrate on the 22nd instant to promptly clean out the drain on his property in Gilman's Bazaar which he had allowed to get choked for a distance of from 59 to 100 yards, was summoned again to the Police Court this morning for not having complied with the order. The Inspector of Nuisances said the defendant had not answered to'the summons, nor had he carried out the Magistrate's order to clean the drain without delay. Captain Thomsett remanded the case till the 3rd May, the surveyor-General meanwhile to take such steps as he might think fit, under section XVII. of Ordinance 8 of 1856; to abate the nuisance. The defendant just then appeared in Court and was informed of the Magistrate's Calcutta Englishman notes the departure of Governor Hennessy from Hongkong, the laudatory demonstration made by the Chinese at the banquet, and concludes with the sentence that the "European community were glad at his departure." This style of journalistic enterprise speaks for itself. We should be gratified to learn the assertion that the "European community were glad" at Governor Hennessy's departure from Hongkong. We should also like to receive some positive information as to the value of such a statement from a newspaper published in the City of Palaces, which could not possibly know anything reliable about the matter. The an nouncement that "the European community were glad at the Governor's departure" actually first appeared in the China Mail; and now that estimable and honourable print reproduces as a valuable and independent statement of fact, a barefaced perversion of truth of its own manufacture. The "European Community" referred of Tooley street."

We ANNA Marques, of Macao, wife of Francisco Marques, summoned Thomas Ebrahim, a watchman, for assault, the latter taking out a cross summons against the lady for a similar offence Both cases were heard together. Mrs. Marques said she resided in St. Francis' street, Wanchai. On the 23rd instant, Ebrahim's wife asked her little boy to go and buy two cents' worth of pepper powder. When her child returned, defendant entered the house and, without saying anything, he meant. He replied "what's that to you. As will be seen by an announcement in our advertising columns, the Italian Opera Company will reproduce on Tuesday next, May 2nd, Donizetti's famous opera "La Favorita," the performance to be for the benefit of Signora Silini, the accomplished and popular contralto. Few artistes who have visited Hongkong, can claim to have become such a universal favorite as signorasilini, and in her case popularity has been gained | signed to Messrs. Wieler, & Co., arrived in harthrough sheer merit. The representation of "La Favorita" was by far the most successful of the season, the fair contralto's impersonation of the hapless Leonora di Guzman, being conspicuous for artistic vocalisation, and distinguished histrionic ability. The selection of Donizetti's master-piece for this occasion is a wise step on the part of the/management, judging from the immense favour with which the opera was received on its first representation, as the "cast' is an exceptionally powerful one. We may safely predict that Signora Silini's benefit will attract the largest house of the season.

THE Peking correspondent of the N. C. Daily News very naturally complains of the sensational and inaccurate reports furnished to that paper by its imaginative Tientsin correspondent. The editor, however, considers it very "mysterious" that he should be so misled. But perhaps the "mystery" can be explained by the letter which appears in the London and China Express of 17th March on the same subject. This letter shows that the source from which these, and many other sensational reports proceed is well known in England, and that the reports themselves are looked upon as nothing more than the irresponsible chatter of an eccentric individual who flits about "mysteriously" at tending to everybody's business but his own To most residents in China there will be very little difficulty in identifying the person referred to. For ourselves, having long been well acquainted with his peculiarities, we have studiously refrained from giving publicity to any of his sensational communications to the N. C. THE Daily Press learns "from a reliable source, that intelligence has been received to the effect that not only has Sir John Pope Hennessy been recalled from this government, but that he will not be offered any further appointment under the Colonial Office." There could surely be no harm done by mentioning the "reliable source" from whence this importantinformation emanates. It will be noted that our contemporary merely asserts that this intelligence has been received as to the truth of the alleged recall he remains discreetly silent. Any person who knows anything whatever about Colonial Office procedure must know that this latest canard—like the Hon. F. Bulkeley Johnson's telegram-is merely "a weak invention of the enemy." Possibly sir John Pope Hennessy may never return to Hongkong; penny per hour on their present rate of wages. THE Canton correspondent of the China Mai writes from "Bleak House" on the 24th inst. as follows:—"Commenting upon the announcement in your issue of the 15th instant, that Mr. Joseph Cook was expected to lecture at Union Church the day after, I stated that as to the suggestion and arrangements placing him in an expectant attitude as the possible recipient of courtesy and an invitation to lecture, I had no part in the matter; but could not restrain expression his purpose to cordially accept such invitation. notice he has taken of my note (of the 18th instant), I trust he will pardon my inability to concur in his implication of blame to Mr. Cook; since the simple question of the chief officer of the Powan, as to where Mr. Cook had proceeded, would have led directly to the Sunda. But my chief purpose in this rejoinder is to acknowledge, on behalf of Mr. Cook and my countrymen generally, the actual proffer of courtesy made by Mr. Colville in the note of invitation, of which he writes; which, by a miscarriage of purpose on his part, stopped short of its destination, though nominally "booked through." It is not strange that pre-arrangements often miscarry; but since Mr. Cook's visit here was like the flash of a comet, there may be a return, either after his visit to Japan and Shanghai or after his sojoura in Australia, and I hope that then many may be Hongkong to hear,—for, verily, he hath much to say of Germany, England and America that is fresh and weighty in matter of fact, as well as: speculative and philosophical. THE GROUNDING OF THE "JASON."

WE learn that the Ocean steamship Company steamer Jason, which left for Amoy between and 6 o'clock last night, came to grief at the en- season. This veteran of the lyric stage was in trance to the Ly-ce-moon Pass, by getting capital voice, and his humourous acting as the aground on a bank of mud or sand, the pilot doubtless mistaking his way owing to the heavy fog which existed at the time. All attempts to get the steamer off the bank last night proved unsuccessful. Messrs. Butterfield and swire, the Agents of the vessel in Hongkong, were immediately communicated with, and the steam tug Fame proceeded out about 7, o'clock this morning, with a large lighter, two junks, and the lighter launch in tow. The steamer being aground about 30 feet forward, it was deemed advisable to lighten her by removing a quantity of planks, and several cases of merchandise from that part of the vessel. The Fame then took her in tow, assisted by the steam-launch, the Jason using her own steam, and at the third attempt, after parting several hawsers, succeeded in getting the steamer safely affoat at 1.30. When our marine reporter left, the vessel was reshipping her cargo from the junks, and it was anticipated that she would be ready to leave for shanghai about 5 o'clock.

FIRE BRIGADE DRILL AND INSPECTION.

Under the energetic direction of the experienced staff of officials to whom a confiding and confident (?) community has entrusted the highly important and responsible duty of promptly extinguishing the periodically devastating conflagrations to which this Colony is peculiarly liable (we exclude from the category, of course, the numerous embryo fires that, under some mysterious combination of circumstances, might have been awfeth dangerous, and which no one ever sees save the lynx-eyed staff of our enterprising contemporally at the bottom of Wyndham Street), the Government and native Volunteer Fire Brigades met vesterday afternoon at the Central Fire Brigade Station for parade and inspection as. announced. A prominent feature in the display was the fire escape and ladder drill, which was carried out on the Praya near the Harbour Office. The escape being reared against the wall of a lofty building, in a street just off the Praya, a European and two native firemen mounted the steps, and, in the presence of an admiring crowd of Celestials, did each the perilous (?) descent in --- The poverty of the English language strikes us here most forcibly, as we do not think it possesses anything like adequate teams to properly express our meaning. We had most said "in very good form," with the addition that "the daring firemen glided gracefully on their backs down the obscure recesses of the escape," but on further consideration, the first appears to us somewhat absurd, and historical accuracy compels us to place on record our opinion that the descent was the reverse, to our minds, of what may be considered either graceful, elegant or dignified, and we should be unfaithful to our high mission of eschewing praise and flattery except where really deserved, were we to affirm otherwise. While the escape was being thus utilized in one place, an exceedingly tall ladder was reared against the roof of an almost equally tail house in another place, a fireman from its lofty summit energetically playing a hose upon an imaginary burning building supposed to be situate somewhere on this side of the "line of perpetual congellation," a spot in cloudland the locality of which, we remember, our teacher used to find it very difficult to hammer into our head at school in olden times. The practice on this "castle in the air" was remarkably good and effective, sparks even ceasing to fly about in a very short time. should not omit to mention that a ladder was also positioned against the wall opposite to that upon which the escape rested its lofty proportions, a fireman presently ascending it with a hose and Ictting slap with great vigour at the escape. At first we imagined, in our innocent simplicity, that the fellows who had a short time before done the daring descent we have so feebly attempted to describe, had, perhaps communicated some defilement to the escape, and that the object of the stream of water directed uponit was to wash this away; but upon enquity of an official, one "who knows you know," we learned that the useful creature—the escape we mean was merely having one of its periodical baths, so that it might be nice, clean and sweetsmelling in case any of our little great men, as Goldsmith would call them, should find it expedient to entrust their precious limbs to its recesses on an early occasion, and, laying aside dignity for the moment, do a hurried scamper down its interior, feet foremost and head well thrown back. Red-shirts and steam engines were conspicuous by their absence yesterday evening, two pairs of manuals forming the line of appeared on a summons, charged with assaultbattle. The hose attached to some of these induced an unwonted activity among the boat population alongside the Praya, who promptly sheered off to avoid the shower baths endeavored to be forced upon them. Upon the whole, the drill and inspection proved very satisfactory, the gear, &c., being found, we believe in serviceable condition and ready for ling to the public, that in fairness to Mr. Ozorio, any emergency that may arise, which should be I your contemporaries should name their authority.

"TUTTI IN MASCHERA!"

The Italian Opera Company re-produced Pedrotti's coniic opera "Tutti In Maschera" at the Theatre Royal, City Hall, last night, for the benefit of Signora Elena Pinelli. The audience was, unfortunately, the smallest of the season, a circumstance much to be regretted, as the young prima donna legere certainly deserved more extensive patronage. However, it is not in mortals to command success however much they may deserve it, and we can only wish Signora Pinelli better fortune on the next occasion she has to appeal to a generous public. As we criticised the former representation at great length, it would, in the present instance, serve no useful end to go over a beaten track. The performance Signora Silini quite surpassed herself as the maes-tro's shrewish, and particularly wide-awake better-half, the "Oh bella, anzi bellissima" duet bringing down thunders of applause, and nothing but a repetition of the amusing scena would satisfy the audience. The remnants of Signor Corti's once magnificent baritone vocal organ has not been heard to such advantage during the conceited impressario "Don Gregorio" was beyoud all praise. A good deal of laughter was caused by one of the "supers," who was supposed to represent the guardian of Abdala's scraglio. The immobile countenance of this gentleman was a perfect study, and we were not surprised that it considerably disturbed the equanimity of several of the principal artistes. Signor Cattaneo deserves the highest commendation for the exceedingly skilful and careful manner in which he conducted and accompanied the performance. Much of the company's success is undoubtedly due to the innestro's indefatigable energy. We must not omit to note that between the third and fourth acts of the opera, signora Pinelli sang the well known cavatina from Donizetti's "Betly." This attractive morceau is admirably suited to the Signora's vocal powers, and she scored a legitimate and well deserved triumph, receiving a most hearty recall, and a shower of floral tributes, besides other marks of public approval and esteem, which she very gracefully acknowledged.

CORRESPONDENCE

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG THERERAPH." SIR,—Referring to your issue of yesterday and the paragraph anent dog stealing, I beg to state for your information that, had the owner of the dog in question made enquiries on the evening of the occurrence, or on the next day as he promised, he would most certainly have found a number of "Enterprising Gunners" who would have given him every information respecting the affair; insteads of which he allows a space of a fortnight or three weeks to pass so as to allow himself time for thought to concoct an unfounded statement, causing you to print a paragraph, that, had you known the truth of the matter, I feel convinced you would have thought twice before allowing itto appear in your paper. The facts of the matter are as follows:--What, from the change of Regiments, and the number of curs we ourselves own. including a slut that we purchased at Stanley four years ago, which for certain reasons was tied up, our Barracks and its neighbourhood had become the entire property of nearly every cur in the colony, so much so that, they had become a common nuisance, and every means had been tried to drive them out.

Now about this particular affair. The gentleman's dog was never tied up by him, which is proved by the fact that no particle of the said rope remained to the collar or dog. was never tied up by the "Enterprising Gunner" but came up the stairs to the Verandah on a visit to the "Slut." Every means having been taken to drive him out of Barracks. but to no purpose: and at last the "tin can" was suggested and carried out which instead of driving him out of barracks only sent him round the verandah; and instead of, like a sensible dog, taking his way down stairs, he took the short cut over the railings into the Barrack square.

It was impossible for the dog to hear his master whistle, for the reason that he was in the upper verandah facing the Queen's Road. Just consider the distance, and I am certain that you will come to the conclusion that this statement will not hold water.

Now as regards "Dog stealing." I have resided in the Artillery Barracks for nearly six years past, and have never known a single instance of this offence in that time having been committed by any enterprising Gunner. At times there have been dogs found in the Barracks which had no connexion with it, and in every case, when it could be possibly found on enquiry who the owners were, the dogs have invariably been conducted to the owner, not with a view to a pecuniary reward, but to keep ourselves at good will with the public of Hongkong.

In conclusion. Dear Mr. Editor, I would remind you that drilling "Curs " may be made prostable by showmen, etc., but the War Office have not as yet thought of testing or solving the problem of drilling them into Gunners. I am, &c.,

The friends of the late Mr. Touzelin, of the I. M. Customs Indoor staff, will be sorry to learn impression. Mr. H. J. Allen, H. B. M.'s Consul, The following is a copy of Mr. Alford's apo- and Mr. E. Cousins, vice-Consul for sweden and Norway, Dr. Watson, and other leading residents were present; the Rev. J. Ross read the funeral service.

Since Easter Sunday northerly winds have been I write to say how sorry I am that I should have prevailing, and consequently but little water has been on the bar; only vessels drawing 1.:-16 feet have been able to cross; the steamship Solving has been detained in Deep Hole, by want of water, for two tides, although she was drawing only 15 feet 9 inches; the northerly | "L A winds, combined with neaps during the week after Easter, fully account for our present low tides. The merchant vessels in port just now are all English and German; some dissatisfaction prevailed amongst the Captains of the latter nationality on Easter Monday, because their Consul prevented them leaving the port on that day; some of them were ready to leave, and they would have cleared (because it was not a Customs' holiday), but they could not get their papers from their Consul; by this disobliging conduct of their consulthey lost 24 hours, besides there being less water on the bar every day after Easter Monday, the last quarter of the moon occurring on Thursday. But what does the German Consul of this port care about the phases of the moon, wind, weather and tides? He cannot collect shipping fees from the moon; "I takes mine ease and mine tollars;" understandez vonz?* The latest new move by the LM. Customs authorities to levy duty on ships, provisions, and stores has not been a successful one, so far; perhaps it had been better if it had not been attempted at all. During the week only two steamers have left our port, the steamship Solway for Hongkong, and the steamship Keeling for Swatow, the latter despatched by Messrs, Bush Brothers. CHARGE AGAINST A NAVAL

A naval court-martial over which Capt. Grant, of H.M.s. Royal Adelaide, presided, assembled at Devenport, on March 3, for the trial of Mr. John Browning, H.M.s. Cambridge, for negligence in the personnance of the duty imposed upon him in ordering the removal from his home to the naval hospital of a scaman suffering from severe illness. The evidence was to the effect that, on February 15th, a statement was received by the prisoner from Dr. Prynne, of Plymouth, to the effect that a seaman, named Jewell, was unable through illness to return to his ship. The prisoner thereupon sent the sick beith attendant to remove the man to the hospital. Tho sick berth steward returned and reported that Jewell was not in a fit condition to be removed, and MONTHLY CUSTOMERS TAKEN AT REDUCED the sick berth attendant came back with an intimation from Dr. Prynne to the like effect. THIS DAY, Four P.M.

A fair amount of general business in our local stocks has been put through since we last wrote. Banks have made a decided improvement, a fair number of shares havingchanged hands for cash at 112 per cent, premium, and at this rate the stock is quite weaker, holders offering to sell at 821, without finding purchasers. One share of the Hongkong Fire Insurance Company has changed hands at 925, and there are more on offer at the price. Docks have April 26, swift, British gunboat, Commander been rather extensively dealt in at 50 per cent. premium for cash; however the stock remains weaker with sellers at the quotation. Steamboats are firm at 24 per cent, premium, no shares being on the market to meet offers to buy at that rate. Hotels at 105 and sugars at 159 are weak with sellers. A small business has been booked in Luzons at 110; but the stock failed to improve its market status, as there are a number of shares still for sale at the same price. One small lot of Bakery shares has been negotiated at 60 per share. From Shanghai we learn that North China Insurances have risen in public estimation, holders now asking Taels 1225 ex-dividend. Yangtsze Insurances are hardly so satisfactory. Business has been put through at Taels 880, and there still sellers willing to "part" for each at the same quotation. The depreciation in this stock is owing to the management having decided to make no return to contributing shareholders owing to exceptionally heavy losses during the past year. SHARES.
